

Targeting Charity Fundraising Letters: An Efficient Policy Learning Approach

I estimate policy rules for the allocation of solicitation letters with tree-based efficient policy learning methods. The policy rules use observable data to target solicitation letters with the purpose of increasing charitable donations. Furthermore, I employ off-policy evaluation methods to estimate the out-of-sample performance of the policy rules.