

Michael Ambühl, Martin Gutmann & Daniela Scherer, “Debate: The Swiss Model – a viable model for a post-Brexit settlement?”, Public Money and Management 38/1 (2018), 3-5.

Martin Gutmann, Building a Nazi Europe: The SS's Germanic Volunteers (New York/Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2017).

Martin Gutmann, “Engineering the European Volksgemeinschaft: social engineering, pedagogy, and fascism in the case of the Swiss Alfred Zander,” Journal of Contemporary History, 5/1 (2016), 40-60.

Peter Black and Martin Gutmann, “Racial Theory and Realities of Conquest: The Nazi Leadership and Non-German Nationals in the SS and Police,” in Robert Gerwarth and Jochen Böhler (eds.), Himmler's Supranational Militia (Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2016).

Steven O'Conner and Martin Gutmann, “Under a foreign flag: integrating foreign units and personnel in the British and German armed forces, 1940–1945,” Journal of Modern European History, 14/3 (2016), 321-341.

Martin Gutmann, “The nature of total war: grasping the global environmental dimension of World War Two,” History Compass, 13/5 (2015), 251-261.

 Martin Gutmann, “Debunking the myth of the volunteers: transnational volunteering in the Nazi Waffen-SS officer corps during the Second World War,” Contemporary European History, 22/4 (2013), 585–607.

Martin Gutmann, “The Future of the Past or Why Digital Humanities is not a Fad,” LinkedIn Pulse (2015).

Martin Gutmann, “Nutzen oder Schützen? Beides! Der SAC und die Umwelt: Die 150-jährige Suche nach einem Gleichgewicht zwischen Schützen und Nutzen,” in Helvetia Club. 150-Jahre Schweizer Alpen-Club SAC (Bern: SAC Verlag, 2013), 182-191. Translated into French and Italian.

Martin Gutmann, “Creating a Transnational Political Soldier. The SS Officer Cadet School at Tölz and the Nazi Quest for a Greater Germanic Empire, 1943-1945,” Transnational Subjects 1/2 (2012), 85-93.

Martin Gutmann, “The Eiger: The Making of a Myth, 1854-1938” Alpinist 40 (2012), 22-47.

Martin Gutmann, “Review Article: Notable Literature on Germany's Red Army Faction,” Studies in Conflict & Terrorism 31/4 (2008), 371-75.

Martin Gutmann, “Review of Peter Takeda, An Eye at the Top of the World,” The American Alpine Journal (2007), 459-461.

Martin Gutmann, “A Formula for Failure: An Examination of the rise of the Soviet Partisans and German anti-Partisan efforts in the Occupied Soviet Union,” Journal on Terrorism and Security Analysis 2 (2007), 5-13.

Martin Gutmann, “Review of Susan E.B. Schwartz, Into the Unknown: The Remarkable Life of Hans Kraus,” The American Alpine Journal (2006), 484-486.